C Dear [REDACTED]

I hope that you had an interesting and profitable time at the meetings. If any points involving our mutual problems came up, be sure and drop me a line about them when you have the time.

You will find the April check and receipt enclosed. Some time between now and the end of July we will have to decide what we are going to do about next year. I imagine that by that time you will have gotten your personal plans worked out, but if that is not possible, we can work out some arrangement that will be satisfactory to everyone.

Sincerely,

C Dear

Thank you very much for your letter, and for taking care of the inquiry. I do hope that they will be interested in sending you some materials, I think that there are some very real possibilities to be had there for a relatively small investment of effort.

It was gratifying to learn that you and [redacted] would be willing to provide such handsome accommodations for me. I think perhaps that I had better restate my primary objectives, since these may not have come completely into focus during my visit. I am keenly interested in procuring an academic post, and one of my chief aims, of course, is to expand my research program. I am sure that the only suitable arrangement would be a position in a department of chemistry, in which I could follow up the several rather diverse interests in which I am currently engaged. Some of these are in natural products chemistry, and I believe that these are the problems with which I will ultimately be mainly concerned, although some of the rearrangements which I am investigating are of more immediate importance to me. As I indicated to you and [redacted] I hope someday to be able to turn the natural products work to a degree in the direction of the botanical implications. I am, of course, attracted to these problems involving "active principles"; the chemistry of such materials is invariably interesting.

[Redacted] C

March 10, 1955

C It is perhaps paradoxical, in the light of my connections with [Redacted] that I have never been able to generate much interest in the type of organic chemical research which has as its ultimate objective the correlation of structures with pharmacological properties. In this regard, [Redacted] has assured me that my services are intended to be rather strictly chemical. I mention this because I have the impression that you may envision a greater degree of cooperation between your group and one that I might have than would be practical.

B If I should assume a post in the chemistry department at [Redacted] I would hope, of course, to have frequent contact with you and your group. If I could be of occasional service in an informal consulting capacity I would be very happy to do so. However, since my connections would naturally be within the framework of chemistry, and since the interests of my students would be such that their associations would be largely in the chemistry group, it would probably be most practical if my laboratories were in the chemistry rather than the medical science area. In this regard, [Redacted] indicated that he intended to make space in the biochemistry labs available to a new man.

C I have gone into this at some length because I am quite anxious that there should be no misunderstanding as to where my interests do and do not lie. I plan to see [Redacted] in [Redacted] in a few weeks, and look forward to discussing some of these matters with him. H

With very best regards,

Sincerely,

C [Redacted]
