A BILL

To expand the role of public schools to provide community services.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “21st Century Commu-
5 nity Learning Centers Act”.

6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7 The Congress finds that—

8 (1) a local public school often serves as a center
9 for the delivery of education and human resources
10 for all members of a community;

1           (2) public schools, primarily in rural and inner 2           city communities, should collaborate with other pub-
3           lic and nonprofit agencies and organizations, local 4           businesses, educational entities (such as vocational 5           and adult education programs, school to work pro-
6           grams, community colleges, and universities), rec-
7           reational, cultural, and other community and human 8           service entities for the purpose of meeting the needs 9           and expanding the opportunities available to the 10          residents of the communities served by such schools;

11          (3) by using school facilities, equipment, and 12          resources, communities can promote a more efficient
13          use of public education facilities, especially in rural 14          and inner city areas where limited financial re-
15          sources have enhanced the necessity for local public
16          schools to become social service centers;

17          (4) the high technology, global economy of the 18          21st century will require lifelong learning to keep 19          America's workforce competitive and successful, local 20          public schools should provide centers for lifelong 21          learning and educational opportunities for individ-
22          uals of all ages; and

23          (5) 21st Century Community Learning Centers
24          enable the entire community to develop an education
