22 Section 5902 is amended to read as follows:

23 “§ 5902. Notifications and certifications

24 “(a) PRIOR NOTIFICATION.—

26 any loaded container or trailer having a projected

1 gross cargo weight of more than 29,000 pounds is 2 tendered for intermodal transportation is a motor 3 carrier, the person tendering the container or trailer
4 shall give the motor carrier a notification of the pro-
5 jected gross cargo weight and a reasonable descrip-
6 tion of the contents of the container or trailer before 7 the tendering of the container or trailer. The notifi-8 cation may be transmitted electronically or by tele-9 phone.

10 “(2) APPLICABILITY.—This subsection applies
11 to any person within the United States who tenders 12 a container or trailer subject to this chapter for 13 intermodal transportation if the first carrier is a 14 motor carrier.

15 “(b) CERTIFICATION.—

16 “(1) IN GENERAL.—A person who tenders a 17 loaded container or trailer with an actual gross 18 cargo weight of more than 29,000 pounds, to a first 19 carrier for intermodal transportation shall provide a 20 certification of the contents of the container or trail-21 er in writing, or electronically, before or when the 22 container or trailer is so tendered.

23 “(2) CONTENTS OF CERTIFICATION.—The cer-24 tification required by paragraph (1) shall include the 7           of data to another document, as provided for in 8           paragraph (3).

9           “(3) TRANSFER OF CERTIFICATION DATA.—A 10          carrier who receives a certification may transfer the 11          information contained in the certification to another 12          document or to electronic format for forwarding to 13          a subsequent carrier. The person transferring the in-14          formation shall state on the forwarded document the 15          date on which the data was transferred and the 16          identity of the party who performed the transfer.

17          “(4) SHIPPING DOCUMENTS.—For purposes of 18          this chapter, a shipping document, prepared by the 19          person tendering a container or trailer to a first car-20          rier, that contains the information required by para-21          graph (2) meets the requirements of paragraph (1).

22          “(5) USE OF ‘FREIGHT ALL KINDS’ TERM.— 23          The term ‘Freight All Kinds’ or ‘FAK’ may not be 24          used for the purpose of certification under this sub-25          section after December 31, 2000, as a description

1 required under paragraph (2)(B) for a trailer or 2 container if the weight of any commodity in the 3 trailer or container equals or exceeds 20 percent of 4 the total weight of the contents of the trailer or con-5 tainer. This subsection does not prohibit the use of 6 such term after December 31, 2000, for rating pur-
7 poses.

8 “(6) SEPARATE DOCUMENT MARKING.—If a
9 separate document is used to meet the requirements

17 CARRIERS.—

18 “(1) GENERAL RULE.—A carrier, agent of a 19 carrier, broker, customs broker, freight forwarder, 20 warehouser, or terminal operator shall forward the 21 certification provided under subsection (b) to a sub-22 sequent carrier transporting the container or trailer
23 in intermodal transportation before or when the con-
24 tainer or trailer is tendered to the subsequent car-25 rier.

1           “(2) PRESUMPTION OF NO CERTIFICATION RE-
2           QUIRED.—If no certification is received by the sub-3           sequent carrier before or when the container or trail-4           er is being tendered to it, the subsequent carrier
5           may presume that no certification is required.

6           “(3) LIMITATION ON CONSTRUCTION OF FOR-7           WARDING.—The act of forwarding the certification
8           may not be construed as a verification or affirmation 9           of the accuracy or completeness of the information 10          in the certification.

11          “(4) LIABILITY.—

12                 “(A) IN GENERAL.—If a person inac-13                 curately transfers the information on the certifi-14                 cation or fails to forward the certification to a 15                 subsequent carrier, then that person is liable to 16                 any person who incurs any bond, fine, penalty, 17                 cost (including storage), or interest charge in-18                 curred as a result of the inaccurate transfer of 19                 information or failure to forward the certifi-20                 cation.

21                 “(B) LIEN.—A subsequent carrier incur-22                 ring a bond, fine, penalty, or cost (including 23                 storage), or interest charge as a result of the 24                 inaccurate transfer of the information or the 25                 failure to forward the certification shall have a

1           lien against the contents of the container or 2           trailer under section 5905 in the amount of the 3           bond, fine, penalty, or cost (including storage), 4           or interest charge and all court costs and legal 5           fees incurred by the carrier as a result of such 6           inaccurate transfer or failure.

7           “(5) NOTICE TO LEASED OPERATORS.—If a 8           motor carrier knows that the gross cargo weight of 9           an intermodal container or trailer subject to the cer-10          tification requirements of subsection (b) would result 11          in a violation of applicable State gross vehicle weight 12          laws—

13                   “(A) a motor carrier must inform the oper-14                   ator of a vehicle which is leased by the vehicle 15                   operator to a motor carrier which transports an 16                   intermodal container or trailer of the gross 17                   cargo weight of the container or trailer as cer-18                   tified to the motor carrier pursuant to sub-19                   section (b);

20                   “(B) the notice must be provided to the 21                   operator prior to the operator being tendered 22                   the container or trailer;

23                   “(C) the notice required by this subsection 24                   must be in writing, but may be transmitted 25                   electronically;

1           “(D) the motor carrier shall bear the bur-
2           den of proof to establish that it tendered the re-3           quired notice to the operator; and 4           “(E) if the operator of a leased vehicle 5           transporting a container or trailer subject to 6           this chapter should receive a fine because of a 7           violation of a State’s gross vehicle weight laws 8           or regulations and lessee motor carrier cannot 9           establish that it tendered to the operator the 10          notice required by this section, the operator 11          shall be entitled to reimbursement from the 12          motor carrier of the amount of any fine and 13          court costs resulting from the failure of the 14          motor carrier to tender the notice to the opera-15          tor.

16          “(d) LIABILITY TO OWNER OR BENEFICIAL 17 OWNER.—If—

18           “(1) a person inaccurately transfers informa-
19           tion on a certification required by subsection (b)(1) 20           or fails to forward a certification to the subsequent 21           carrier;

22           “(2) as a result of the inaccurate transfer of 23           such information or a failure to forward a certifi-24           cation, the subsequent carrier incurs a bond, fine,

1 penalty, or cost (including storage), or interest 2 charge; and

3 “(3) a subsequent carrier exercises its rights to 4 a lien under section 5905,
5 then that person is liable to the owner or beneficial owner 6 or to any other person paying the amount of the lien to 7 the subsequent carrier for the amount of the lien and all 8 costs related to the imposition of the lien, including court 9 costs and legal fees incurred in connection with imposition 10 of the lien.

11 “(e) NONAPPLICABILITY.—

12 “(1) CONSOLIDATED SHIPMENTS.—The notifi-
13 cation and certification requirements of subsections
14 (a) and (b) do not apply to any intermodal container
15 or trailer containing consolidated shipments loaded 16 by a motor carrier if that motor carrier—

17 “(A) performs the highway portion of the 18 intermodal movement; or

19 “(B) assumes the responsibility for any 20 weight-related fine or penalty incurred by any 21 other motor carrier that performs a part of the 22 highway transportation.

5           intermodal transportation, unless the carrier is 6           also the person tendering the loaded container 7           or trailer to the first carrier.

8           “(B) SPECIAL RULE.—A carrier, agent of 9           a carrier, broker, customs broker, freight for-10          warder, warehouse, or terminal operator is 11          deemed not to be a person tendering a loaded 12          container or trailer to a first carrier under this 13          section, unless the carrier, agent, broker, cus-14          toms broker, freight forwarder, warehouse, or 15          terminal operator assumes legal responsibility
16          for loading property into the container or trail-
