1 TITLE I—FINDINGS, POLICY, AND
 2 PURPOSES

3 SEC. 101. FINDINGS.

4 The Congress finds the following:

5 (1) Dramatic changes in the geo-political and 6 military landscape during the last decade have had 7 significant impacts on United States security.

8 (2) Those changes include the breakup of the 9 Warsaw Pact alliance, the disintegration of the So-
 10 viet Union, and an increase in regional instability 11 and conflict.

12 (3) While the magnitude and implications of 13 these and other changes continues to evolve, the 14 world remains an unstable and dangerous place.
 15 This uncertainty mandates the need for an on-going 16 process to establish an appropriate national security

1 strategy and the forces needed to implement that 2 strategy.

3 (4) The centerpiece of the defense strategy of 4 the Administration, the review of the Department of 5 Defense conducted by the Secretary of Defense in 6 1993 known as the “Bottom Up Review”, deter-7 mined that United States forces must be—

8 (A) prepared to fight and win two nearly 9 simultaneous Major Regional Conflicts;

10 (B) able to sustain robust overseas pres-
11 ence in peacetime;

12 (C) prepared for a variety of regional con-13 tingencies; and

14 (D) able to deter and prevent attacks with 15 weapons of mass destruction against United 16 States territory and forces and the territory 17 and forces of our allies.

18 (5) The Bottom Up Review also recommended
19 significant reductions in military forces, including 20 reduction in the number of Navy ships by one-third, 21 the number of Air Force wings by almost one-half,
22 and the level of funding for missile defenses by over 23 50 percent.

24 (6) The General Accounting Office and the 25 Congressional Budget Office have estimated that the

1 mismatch between even the restrictive Bottom Up
2 Review force and the Administration defense budget 3 may be up to anywhere from $65,000,000,000 to 4 $150,000,000,000.

5 (7) Since January 1993, presidential budgets
6 and budget plans have set forth a reduction in de-7 fense spending of $156,000,000,000 through fiscal 8 year 1999.

9 (8) The fiscal year 1995 budget is the 10th 10 consecutive year of reductions in real defense spend-11 ing and, with the exception of fiscal year 1948, rep-12 resents the lowest percentage of gross domestic 13 product for any defense budget since World War II.

14 (9) During fiscal year 1995, the number of ac-
15 tive duty, reserve component, and civilian personnel 16 of the Department of Defense will be reduced by 17 182,000, a rate of over 15,000 per month or over 18 500 per day. The Bureau of Labor Statistics esti-
19 mates that 1,200,000 defense-related private sector
20 jobs will be lost by 1997.

21 (10) Despite severe reductions and shortfalls in 22 defense funding and force structure, since 1993
23 United States military forces have been deployed
24 more often and committed to more peacetime mis-
25 sions per year than ever before. Most of these mis-

1 sions involve United Nations peacekeeping and hu-
2 manitarian efforts. At the end of fiscal year 1994, 3 over 70,000 United States personnel were serving in 4 such regions as Iraq, Bosnia, Macedonia, the Adri-
5 atic Sea, Rwanda, and the Caribbean Sea for mis-6 sions involving Haiti and Cuba.

7 (11) Despite the dramatic increase in the pace
8 of operations and the diversion of training and exer-
9 cise funds to cover the costs of unbudgeted contin-10 gency operations, the Armed Forces of the United 11 States remain the most capable, motivated, and ef-
12 fective military force in the world. The ability to suc-
13 cessfully deploy and maintain support for the range 14 of on-going contingency operations demonstrates the 15 continued quality and professionalism of our troops.

16 (12) However, persistent indications of declin-
17 ing readiness demonstrate that military units are en-
18 tering the early stage of a long-term systemic readi-
19 ness problem. This downward readiness trend risks 20 a return to the “hollow forces” of the 1970s.

21 (13) At the end of fiscal year 1994, one-third 22 of the units in the Army contingency force and all 23 of the forward-deployed and follow-on Army divi-24 sions were reporting a reduced state of military 25 readiness. During fiscal year 1994, training readi-

1 ness declined for the Navy's Atlantic and Pacific 2 fleets. Training funding shortfalls also resulted in a
3 grounding of Navy and Marine Corps aircraft squad-
4 rons and cancellation and curtailment of Army 5 training exercises. Marine and naval personnel are 6 not maintaining the standard 12- to 18-month res-7 pite between six-month deployments away from 8 home.

9 (14) The significant increase in deployments in 10 support of peacekeeping, humanitarian, and contin-
11 gency operations has placed great personnel tempo
12 stress on many critical operational units.

13 (15) A real commitment to equitable compensa-14 tion and protection of quality-of-life programs for 15 servicemembers and their families is an essential 16 component to ensuring high personnel morale and 17 sustaining force readiness. However, as of January 18 1, 1995, military pay is approximately 12.8 percent
19 below comparable civilian levels. As a result, it is es-
20 timated that close to 17,000 junior enlisted person-21 nel have to rely on food stamps and the Department
22 of Defense will soon begin providing supplementary 23 food benefits to an estimated 11,000 military per-24 sonnel and dependents living overseas.

1 (16) Critical long-term modernization programs 2 continue to be delayed or cancelled as resources are 3 diverted to cover short-term personnel and readiness
4 shortfalls resulting from an underfunded defense 5 budget and an overextended force, threatening the 6 technological superiority of future United States
7 forces.

8 (17) The fiscal year 1995 defense budget failed
9 to meet the current force structure goal of 184 mod-
10 ern long-range bombers, as established in the Bot-
11 tom-Up Review. Unless this long-range bomber ca-12 pability shortfall is addressed promptly, the Nation's 13 ability to project force will be undermined and the 14 existing bomber industrial base may be placed at 15 risk.

16 (18) The Administration has initially agreed to 17 or proposed treaty limitations, or has unilaterally
18 adopted positions, that prohibit the United States
19 from testing or deploying effective missile defense 20 systems.

21 (19) United Nations assessments to the United 22 States for peacekeeping missions totaled over 23 $1,000,000,000 in 1994. The United States is as-24 sessed 31.7 percent of annual United Nations costs
25 for peacekeeping. The next highest contributor,

1 Japan, only pays 12.5 percent of such costs. The 2 Department of Defense also incurs hundreds of mil-
3 lions of dollars in costs every year for United States
4 military participation in United Nations peacekeep-
5 ing or humanitarian missions, most of which are not 6 reimbursed by the United Nations. For fiscal year
7 1994, these Department of Defense costs totaled 8 over $1,721,000,000.

9 (20) Credible and effective collective action on 10 international security concerns through the United 11 Nations and regional organizations such as the 12 North Atlantic Treaty Organization can, in appro-13 priate cases, advance world peace, strengthen the 14 national security of the United States, and foster
15 more equitable burden-sharing with friends and al-
16 lies of the United States in military, political, and fi-17 nancial terms.

18 SEC. 102. POLICY.

19 The Congress is committed to providing adequate re-20 sources to protect the national security interests of the 21 United States, including the resources necessary—

22 (1) to provide for sufficient forces to meet the 23 national security strategy of being able to fight and 24 win two nearly simultaneously major regional con-
25 flicts;

1 (2) to provide for sufficient forces to meet the 2 national security strategy of using forward-deployed
3 and forward-based forces to promote regional stabil-
4 ity, deter aggression, improve joint/combined oper-5 ations among United States forces and allies, and 6 ensure timely crisis response;

7 (3) to provide pay and benefits necessary for 8 members of the Armed Forces (including members 9 of the National Guard and Reserve as well as active 10 duty members) to begin closing the gap between 11 rates of civilian pay and rates of military pay;

12 (4) to maintain a high quality-of-life for mili-
13 tary personnel and their dependents;

14 (5) to maintain a high level of military readi-
15 ness and take all necessary steps to avoid a return 16 to the “hollow forces” of the 1970s;

17 (6) to fully provide for the necessary mod-
18 ernization of United States military forces in order
19 to ensure their technological superiority over any ad-20 versary; and

21 (7) to develop and deploy at the earliest prac-
22 tical date highly effective national and theater mis-
23 sile defense systems.

24 SEC. 103. PURPOSES.

25 The purposes of this Act are—

1 (1) to establish an advisory commission to as-2 sess United States military needs and address the 3 problems posed by the continuing downward spiral
4 of defense spending;

5 (2) to commit the United States to accelerate 6 the development and deployment of theater and na-
7 tional ballistic missile defense capabilities;

8 (3) to restrict deployment of United States
9 forces to missions that are in the national security 10 interest of the United States;

11 (4) to maintain adequate command and control
12 by United States personnel of United States forces
13 participating in United Nations peacekeeping oper-
14 ations;

15 (5) to reduce the cost to the United States of 16 United Nations peacekeeping activities and to press
17 for reforms in United Nations management prac-18 tices; and

19 (6) to reemphasize the commitment of the 20 United States to a strong and viable North Atlantic 21 Treaty Organization.

1 TITLE II—POLICY REGARDING
2 PRIORITY FOR MISSILE DE-
3 FENSE PROGRAMS

4 SEC. 201. POLICY.

5 The following, in the order listed, shall be the policy
6 of the United States with respect to the priority for devel-7 opment and deployment of missile defense programs:

8 (1) First, ensuring operational readiness of the 9 Armed Forces and accomplishing programmed mod-10 ernization of weapons systems.

11 (2) Second, as part of such modernization, com-
12 pleting the development and deployment at the earli-
13 est practicable date of more effective theater missile
14 defense (TMD) systems by adequately funding es-
15 sential theater missile defense programs.

16 (3) Third, developing as soon as practicable, 17 subject to the availability of funding, a ground-based 18 interceptor system capable of destroying ballistic
19 missiles launched against the United States.

20 SEC. 202. SENSE OF CONGRESS ON THEATER MISSILE DE-
21 FENSE AND THE ANTI-BALLISTIC MISSILE
22 (ABM) TREATY.

23 (a) FINDINGS.—The Congress makes the following
24 findings:

1 (1) The United States and its allies face exist-
2 ing and expanding threats from ballistic missiles ca-3 pable of being used as theater weapon systems that 4 are presently possessed by, being developed by, or 5 being acquired by a number of countries, including 6 Iran, Iraq, Syria, Libya, and North Korea.

7 (2) Some theater ballistic missiles that are cur-8 rently deployed or are being developed (such as the 9 Chinese CSS-2 missile and the North Korean Taepo
10 Dong-2 missile) have capabilities equal to or greater 11 than the capabilities of missiles that were deter-
12 mined to be strategic missiles more than 20 years
13 ago under the Strategic Arms Limitation Agreement 14 I (SALT I) Interim Agreement of 1972 entered into 15 between the United States and the Soviet Union.

16 (3) The Anti-Ballistic Missile (ABM) Treaty
17 was not intended to, and does not, apply to or limit 18 research, development, testing, or deployment of 19 missile defense systems, system upgrades, or system 20 components that are designed to counter modern 21 theater ballistic missiles, regardless of the capabili-
22 ties of such missiles, unless those systems, system 23 upgrades, or system components are tested against 24 or have demonstrated capabilities to counter modern 25 strategic ballistic missiles.

1 (4) It is a national security priority of the 2 United States to develop and deploy highly effective 3 theater missile defense systems capable of counter-4 ing the existing and expanding threats posed by 5 modern theater ballistic missiles at the earliest prac-6 tical date.

7 (5) Current United States proposals in the 8 Standing Consultative Commission (SCC) would 9 multilateralize the ABM Treaty, making future
10 amendments or changes to the Treaty more difficult, 11 and would impose specific design limitations on 12 United States theater missile defense (TMD) sys-13 tems that would significantly compromise the United 14 States TMD capability.

15 (b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of the 16 Congress that further formal negotiations in the Standing 17 Consultative Commission (SCC) and any informal discus-18 sions or negotiations on either the demarcation between 19 theater missile defense (TMD) systems and anti-ballistic 20 missile (ABM) systems, or any other effort that bears on 21 the viability of the ABM Treaty, including 22 multilateralization of the treaty, should be suspended until 23 the One Hundred Fourth Congress has had the oppor-
24 tunity to review those matters.

1 SEC. 203. BALLISTIC MISSILE DEFENSE AS A COMPONENT
2 OF MILITARY READINESS.

3 (a) USE OF FISCAL YEAR 1996 FUNDS.—Of the total
4 amount of funds appropriated or otherwise made available 5 for the Department of Defense for fiscal year 1996, the 6 amount obligated for national missile defense programs
7 may exceed the amount made available for national missile 8 programs for fiscal year 1995.

9 (b) FINDINGS.—In carrying out program execution of 10 national missile defense programs using funds appro-11 priated for fiscal year 1996, the Secretary of Defense shall 12 consider the following findings by Congress:

13 (1) A critical component of military readiness is 14 whether the Armed Forces are properly sized, 15 equipped, structured, and ready to carry out as-16 signed missions as required by the national military 17 strategy.

18 (2) In testimony before the Committee on 19 Armed Services of the House of Representatives on 20 February 22, 1994, the Chairman of the Joint 21 Chiefs of Staff testified that “modernization is the 22 key to future readiness and it is the only way to pro-23 vide our next generation with an adequate defense”.

24 (3) Given the growing ballistic missile threat,
25 the deployment of affordable, highly effective na-
26 tional and theater missile defense systems is an es-

1 sential objective of a defense modernization program
2 that adequately supports the requirements of the na-
3 tional military strategy.

4 (c) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—In light of the findings
5 in subsection (b), it is the sense of Congress that an effec-
6 tive national and theater missile defense capability is es-7 sential to ensuring that United States Armed Forces are 8 ready to meet current and expected threats to United 9 States national security.

5 SEC. 303. DUTIES.

6 (a) COMPREHENSIVE REVIEW.—The Commission
7 shall conduct a comprehensive review of the long-term na-
8 tional security needs of the United States. The review 9 shall include the following:

10 (1) An assessment of the need for a new na-
11 tional security strategy and, if it is determined that 12 such a new strategy is needed, identification of such 13 a strategy.

14 (2) An assessment of the need for a new na-
15 tional military strategy and, if it is determined that 16 such a new strategy is needed, identification of such 17 a strategy.

19 ture necessary to support the new strategies identi-

17 expended on non-defense programs.

18 (10) An assessment of the costs to the United 19 States of expanding the membership of the North 20 Atlantic Treaty Organization.

21 (11) An assessment of the elements of military 22 pay and allowances constituting the regular military 23 compensation of members of the Armed Forces and 24 the development of recommendations for changes in 25 those elements in order to end the dependence of

1 some members of the Armed Forces and their fami-
2 lies on Federal and local assistance programs.

3 (12) An assessment of the need to revise the 4 command and control structure of the Army Re-5 serve.

6 (b) MATTERS TO BE CONSIDERED.—In carrying out
7 the review, the Commission shall develop specific rec-8 ommendations to accomplish each of the following:

9 (1) Provide members of the Armed Forces with 10 annual pay raises and other compensation at levels 11 sufficient to begin closing the gap with comparable 12 civilian pay levels.

13 (2) Fully fund cost-effective missile defense sys-14 tems that are deployable at the earliest practical 15 date following enactment of this Act.

16 (3) Maintain adequate funding for military 17 readiness accounts without sacrificing modernization 18 programs.

19 (4) Maintain a strong role for Guard and Re-20 serve forces.

21 (5) Provide a new funding system to avoid di-22 versions from military readiness accounts to pay for 23 peacekeeping and humanitarian deployments such as 24 Haiti and Rwanda.

1 (6) Support security enhancing measures in the 2 Asia-Pacific region, including support for the Asso-
3 ciation of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) Re-
4 gional Forum.

5 (7) Reduce the level of defense expenditures for 6 non-defense programs.

13 versions.

14 (b) INTERIM REPORT.—The Commission shall sub-

22 For purposes of this section, the term “designated con-23 gressional committees” means—

25 Committee on International Relations, and the Com-

1 mittee on Appropriations of the House of Represent-2 atives; and

7 REPORT.—The Secretary of the Army may not, during the 8 period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act 9 and ending on the date on which the interim report under 10 subsection (b) is submitted, take any action to implement 11 the plan to reorganize the Army Reserve’s continental 12 United States headquarters structures that was an-13 nounced by the Secretary on January 4, 1995.

14 SEC. 305. POWERS.

16 pose of carrying out this section, conduct such hearings, 17 sit and act at such times, take such testimony, and receive 18 such evidence, as the Commission considers appropriate.

19 (b) ASSISTANCE FROM OTHER AGENCIES.—The 20 Commission may secure directly from any department or 21 agency of the Federal Government such information, rel-
22 evant to its duties under this title, as may be necessary
23 to carry out such duties. Upon request of the chairman
24 of the Commission, the head of the department or agency

1 shall, to the extent permitted by law, furnish such infor-
2 mation to the Commission.

4 States mails in the same manner and under the same con-5 ditions as the departments and agencies of the Federal

21 travel expenses including per diem in lieu of subsistence, 22 as authorized by section 5703 of title 5, United States
23 Code, when engaged in the performance of Commission 24 duties.

1 (b) STAFF.—The Commission shall appoint a staff 2 director, who shall be paid at a rate not to exceed the 3 maximum rate of basic pay under section 5376 of title
4 5, United States Code, and such professional and clerical 5 personnel as may be reasonable and necessary to enable 6 the Commission to carry out its duties under this title
7 without regard to the provisions of title 5, United States

15 (2) with respect to each such nation, the total 16 amount that such nation spent for peacekeeping ac-17 tivities for which it received a payment from the 18 United Nations during 1994, with separate displays
19 for the portion of that amount spent for pay and al-20 lowances for personnel of that nation's Armed 21 Forces (including credit for longevity and retire-22 ment), for other perquisites relating to the duty of 23 such personnel as part of such peacekeeping activi-
24 ties, and to the extent possible for related incremen-

10 TITLE VI—EXPANSION OF THE 11 NORTH ATLANTIC TREATY 12 ORGANIZATION

13 SEC. 601. SHORT TITLE.

14 This title may be cited as the “NATO Expansion Act 15 of 1995”.

16 SEC. 602. FINDINGS.

17 The Congress makes the following findings:

18 (1) Since 1949, the North Atlantic Treaty Or-19 ganization (NATO) has helped to guarantee the se-
20 curity, freedom, and prosperity of the United States
21 and its partners in the alliance.

22 (2) NATO has expanded its membership on 23 three different occasions since its founding in 1949.

24 (3) The steadfast and sustained commitment of 25 the member countries of NATO to mutual defense

1 against the threat of communist domination played 2 a significant role in precipitating the collapse of the 3 Iron Curtain and the demise of the Soviet Union.

4 (4) Although new threats are more geographi-
5 cally and functionally diverse and less predictable, 6 they still imperil shared interests of the United 7 States and its NATO allies.

8 (5) Western interests must be protected on a 9 cooperative basis without an undue burden falling 10 upon the United States.

11 (6) NATO is the only multilateral organization
12 that is capable of conducting effective military oper-
13 ations to protect Western interests.

14 (7) The valuable experience gained from ongo-15 ing military cooperation within NATO was critical to 16 the success of joint military operations in the 1991
17 liberation of Kuwait.

18 (8) NATO is an important diplomatic forum for 19 discussion of issues of concern to its member states 20 and for the peaceful resolution of disputes.

21 (9) Admission of Central and East European 22 countries that have recently been freed from com-23 munist domination to NATO could contribute to 24 international peace and enhance the security of 25 those countries.

1 (10) By joining the Partnership for Peace, a 2 number of countries have expressed interest in 3 NATO membership.

4 (11) The Partnership for Peace program is cre-
5 ating new political and military ties with countries 6 in Central and Eastern Europe and provides the 7 basis for joint action to deal with common security 8 problems. Active participation in the Partnership for 9 Peace will also play an important role in the evolu-10 tionary process of NATO expansion.

11 (12) Numerous Central and East European 12 countries, particularly Poland, Hungary, the Czech
13 Republic, and Slovakia, have made significant 14 progress toward establishing democratic institutions, 15 free market economies, civilian control of their 16 Armed Forces, police, and intelligence services, and 17 the rule of law since the fall of their previous com-18 munist governments.

19 SEC. 603. UNITED STATES POLICY.

20 It should be the policy of the United States—

21 (1) to continue the Nation's commitment to an 22 active leadership role in NATO;

23 (2) to join with the Nation's NATO allies to re-
24 define the role of the alliance in the post-Cold War
25 world, taking into account—

1 (A) the fundamentally changed security en-
2 vironment of Central and Eastern Europe;

3 (B) the need to assure all countries of the 4 defensive nature of the alliance and the desire 5 of its members to work cooperatively with all 6 former adversaries;

7 (C) the emerging security threats posed by 8 the proliferation of nuclear, chemical, and bio-9 logical weapons of mass destruction and the 10 means to deliver them;

11 (D) the continuing challenges to the inter-12 ests of all NATO member countries posed by 13 unstable and undemocratic regimes harboring 14 hostile intentions; and

15 (E) the dependence of the global economy 16 on a stable energy supply and the free flow of 17 commerce;

18 (3) to affirm that NATO military planning 19 should include joint military operations beyond the 20 geographic bounds of the alliance under Article 4 of 21 the North Atlantic Treaty when the shared interests
22 of the United States and other member countries re-23 quire such action to defend vital interests;
