RESOLUTION

Supporting responsible fatherhood and encouraging greater involvement of fathers in the lives of their children, especially on Father's Day.

Whereas 40 percent of children who live in fatherless households in the United States have not seen their fathers in at least 1 year, and 50 percent of such children have never visited their fathers' homes;

Whereas approximately 50 percent of all children born in the United States spend at least half of their childhood in families without father figures;

Whereas 3 out of 4 adolescents in the United States report that they do not have adults in their lives that serve as positive role models;

Whereas children who are apart from their biological fathers are, in comparison to other children, 5 times more likely to live in poverty, and more likely to bring weapons and drugs into the classroom, commit other crimes, drop out of school, commit suicide, abuse alcohol or drugs, and become pregnant as teenagers;

Whereas the Federal Government spends billions of dollars to address these social ills and very little to promote responsible fatherhood;

Whereas the promotion of responsible fatherhood should not—

(1) denigrate the standing or parenting efforts of single mothers, whose efforts are heroic;

(2) lessen the protection of children from abusive parents;

(3) cause women to remain in, or enter into, abusive relationships; or

(4) compromise the health or safety of a custodial parent;

Whereas children with fathers at home tend to do better in school, to be less prone to depression, and to have more successful relationships;

Whereas boys and girls alike demonstrate greater self-control and ability to take initiative when fathers are actively involved in their upbringing;

Whereas promoting responsible fatherhood can help increase the chances that children will grow up with two caring parents;

Whereas a broad array of America’s leading family and child-development experts agree that it is in the best interests of children, and the Nation as a whole, to encourage more two-parent, father-involved families;

Whereas in a study of fathers’ interaction with their children in intact two-parent families, nearly 90 percent of the fathers surveyed said that being a father is the most fulfilling role a man can have;

Whereas according to a 1996 Gallup poll, 90.3 percent of Americans agree that fathers make a unique contribution to their children’s lives;

Whereas married fathers are more likely to have a close, enduring relationship with their children than unmarried fathers;

Whereas the promotion of responsible fatherhood is a bipartisan issue; and

Whereas Father’s Day is the third Sunday in June: Now, therefore, be it

1 Resolved, That the House of Representatives—

2 (1) urges men to understand the level of re-
3 responsibility fathering a child requires, especially in
4 the encouragement of the academic, moral, and spir-
5 itual development of children;

6 (2) recognizes the need to encourage active in-
7 volvement of fathers in the rearing and development
8 of their children;

9 (3) encourages each father to devote time, en-
10 ergy, and resources to his children, recognizing that

1 children need not only material support, but even
2 more importantly, a secure and nurturing family en-
3 vironment;

4 (4) commends the millions of fathers who serve
5 as wonderful, caring parents for their children, while
6 also recognizing that there are children who will
7 have no one with whom to celebrate on Father's
8 Day;

9 (5) urges mothers to encourage fathers to play
10 an active role in child-rearing;

11 (6) calls on fathers across the Nation to use
12 Father's Day to reconnect and rededicate themselves
13 to their children's lives, to spend Father's Day with 14 their children, and to express their love and support
15 for their children; and

16 (7) urges American institutions, and govern-
17 ment entities at every level, to promote public poli-
18 cies that encourage and support the efforts of, and 19 remove barriers to, responsible fatherhood.
